

T-Rex Cookie Company, LLC is 😊 feeling thankful.

What makes a cafe is not the coffee we serve, the food we cook or even the cookies we bake. The customers, our guests, are what gives the shop the vibe and personality.

We recently lost Perry Lueders, one our most favorite guests. He would come into T-Rex daily with the most cheerful smile and sip his cup of coffee at our corner table and read his paper. He would never fail to let us know he was leaving us the paper to make sure we were all caught up on current events.

When Perry's friends and family reached out and asked if we could host his memorial, we were more than honored. They said it would be the perfect spot because he would always talk about this little cafe called "T-Rex" and how he loved to spend time there. He was an avid supporter of small business and even with his passing he has found a way to support us.

Thank you Perry for your loving smiles, hugs and friendship. We know you are and always will be smiling down on us from your new coffee shop in heaven!
